

Cultivating the Art of Appreciative Leadership

Developing Appreciative Leadership is important to engage people in today's ever changing organizations. Developing a positive orientation to leadership increases your ability to bring out the best in people and organizations while enhancing the organization's capacity for innovation and productivity. This workshop provides a transformational approach to identify your individual strengths and develop your own personal approach to positive leadership.

Who Should Attend

- ▶ leaders who wish to amplify the inspirational side of their leadership
- ▶ leaders who recognize that new skills are necessary in contemporary times where the environment is dramatically changing, where the rules that have guided how we operate no longer apply, and where the best leaders will be transparent with their intentions, having a seamless link between their espoused values, actions, and behaviors.
- ▶ Human Resources and Organizational Development professionals looking for leadership development approaches that increase employee engagement and organizational performance.

Testimonials:

“ The Appreciate Leadership workshop provided tools and resources that I hadn't encountered elsewhere and that I was immediately able to put to use. The use of a discovery approach...helps participants to articulate a leadership aspiration that will be both effective and personally appropriate. The facilitators are able draw from their deep backgrounds and experience to enrich the workshop with real-world examples and provide personalized guidance. ”
